THE FLIES IN THE HONEY

HOW FLIES' GREED TURNED A SIMPLE
INDULGENCE INTO A CALAMITOUS END.

A jar of Honey spilled out onto a table, its sweet smell attracting a buzzing crowd of Flies. They did not wait for any invitation, but instead dove fully into the Honey, gorging themselves on this golden treat.

They ate greedily, unaware that they were being covered in the sticky Honey. When the Flies were finally satiated, they attempted to fly away, but discovered that their legs and wings were stuck together, and they were unable to move.

Too much of a good thing can be bad.
